Management noted, “We consider our location in Papine to be an important part of our success. The facility in Papine is now owned by the company. Papine is a vibrant and fast-growing university community that also serves as a main access point to the St. Andrew hills. Our location is immediately within the most trafficked part of the community, is purpose built and well established. The immediate plan is to further develop the facility in Papine through continuous investments in our physical space, operating systems, plant and equipment and our service team.”
